Course Information

The journey of a child's education begins early in life, but it cannot be limited to reading and writing only. As an ongoing process, it spans their whole life. If they embark upon this road without a solid foundation, they may meet failure. To avoid such circumstances, the experts at Montessori Pro have developed this course for Alison students passionate about early childhood education.

The primary audience of this course is elementary school teachers. The course itself comprises a single module divided further into five topics. The first topic explains the importance of integrated subjects and a holistic approach to early childhood education. The second topic discusses the four main theories concerned with childhood development and their implications. The following two topics discuss the methods to develop a proper curriculum and the role of families in raising children, respectively. The fourth topic also emphasizes collaboration between parents and teachers and different ways to enhance cooperation.

In the last topic, you will learn to provide your students with first aid for various injuries and health hazards, such as heatstroke, head injury, allergic reaction, nosebleeds, and epileptic seizures. Throughout the course, videos, animations, and graphics make the learning experience more interesting. Furthermore, questions have been added at the end of each topic to help learners revise essential concepts. You can also apply for Alison's certificate after successfully completing the final assessment.
